I'm Montse, a contemporary Spanish artist, fabric and fashion designer with a rich and diverse career in fashion. I graduated from the Ramon Llull-ESDI University in Spain in 2003 and since then I have been working in the world of fashion. I have always combined my work with my creative facet and painting. I have created all kinds of products from clothing, prints, merchandising, footwear, bags and accessories. I have experience in marketing and product development. I have led design teams and supervised productions in several countries managing the entire process from conceptualization to store distribution. In my free time I do different activities, I have been with my own online business for over a decade.

I like to paint above all abstract and colorful things that fill my soul with a particular affinity for abstract and vibrant compositions that resonate with my inner self. Painting as an expression of my internal emotions through the language of color. Music and color give life to my day.

"The expression of emotions through color is the heart of my works."
