Texture Artist

About the artist

I am a textured artist, working in Aesthetic Art style. My artworks are more than just art—I'm channeling the essence of the human soul and the divine. My work merges psychology—the science of the soul—and spirituality, as I believe that everything in us is a reflection of both. Through texture, I express the depth of human experience, the contradictions, and the beauty of our true selves.

I connect dualities—light and shadow, chaos and calm, the material and the spiritual. My art invites you to reconnect with your essence, to celebrate the beauty of your authenticity. In a world that often focuses on the surface, I remind you of the divine beauty within and the power of embracing your true nature.

Each piece is a reflection of the soul, a reminder of the elegance in simplicity and the power in being real.

Career

I started to work with texture (modeling paste, fabric, gelatin, spray paints, cellophane, patina, sand, foil, stencils, dry pigments, gemstones..) since January 2025, but my journey began earlier.

From 2020, I've worked in psychology and hypnosis, practiced ART THERAPY (Neurographics, Sacred Geometry, healing sessions, masterclasses), helping others connect with their inner selves. In 2025, I realized that I could no longer ignore the call to create. I saw that art and psychology together have the power to heal souls, and I knew that this was my true path.

Accomplishments

- In January 2025, I started researching and studying texture painting techniques.

In March, I took part in online competition among textured artists and won, which was a significant milestone in my decision to make a step into career. Since then, I've started working on a new series of pieces for an upcoming exhibition, exploring the deep connection between art, healing, and human emotion.

- I took part in the International Competition Golden Talent UK and my artwork was chosen and submitted for the competition. <https://youtu.be/nteJ3b-wCQ0>

- On May 20 2025 my work WHOLENESS is going to be part of the ART PRIZE ONLINE EXHIBITION in NEW YORK

- Won a Honorable Mention Award in the "14th ABSTRACT" international art competition TERAVARNA (with my work "The river of life" –slide10)

I want my works to immerse viewers in a world where every stroke and color not only reflect the techniques of painting but also reveal something important within each observer, awakening feelings of love, sadness, and philosophical existential reflections.

These are not just paintings; they are journeys into the depths of the soul, where everyone can find a reflection of themselves.

My paintings open up a space for self-expression, where there are no boundaries for creativity and self-identity. Every stroke and color is a tribute to the individuality and uniqueness of each person's spiritual path. It is an invitation to reflection, inspiration, and the connection of the puzzle pieces about oneself and the world.

Once, the mighty god Ra sailed across the sky, his golden chariot blazing with light. As he reached the horizon, he paused, looking at the earth below. The people watched in awe as the sun began to dip, painting the sky in hues of red and gold.

Ra spoke softly, "In every sunset, I lay down my light, just as I lay down the burdens of the day. The darkness that follows is not an end, but a promise. Just as the night holds the stars, so does the sunset hold the hope of a new dawn."

And so, as Ra's chariot disappeared beneath the earth, the people understood: every sunset was both a closing and a beginning, a gift of renewal from the god who illuminated their lives.
